ALL WIRES DOWN AT MIDNIGHT; HERALD'S NEWS SERVICE CRIPPLED

Only a Few Telegrams Received In This City Over One Lone Wire

NO WIRE CONNECTION

With the North Between Ten O'clock and Time For Going to Press

The high wind which swept over the Florida peninsula yesterday in advance of the cold wave, blew down telegraph poles and so greatly interfered with the sending of telegraphic messages as to almost eliminate The Herald's Associated Press service.

Only one wire was open to Jacksonville last night, and that was circuitous, being by way of Sanford and Tampa and thence to Jacksonville.

During a part of the night telegraphic service to Key West was continued over one railway line, all others being out of commission.

At least one hundred and fifty business telegrams which had accumulated at Jacksonville during the day were given precedence over the one open wire last night, and delayed the few messages that were permitted to come through.

But at half past ten o'clock this one avenue for news was closed and the transmission of all messages ceased.

The chief operator at the Western Union Telegraph office declared the situation was the worst he had ever known. He sent a long distance telephone call to Titusville to try and open a wire there, but at midnight no relief had been obtained.

John Dorn sues Lena Dorn, through his counsel, Carson & Pine, for divorce, on statutory grounds. The couple were married on June 28, 1900, at Jamestown, N. Y.

The latest speed boat entered is the "Osteadia," owned by J. Fred Betz of Philadelphia. The entry was made by Jack Wainwright of Miami.

The "Oteadia" is twenty-nine feet over all and is powered with a six cylinder Sterling motor, and is rated at thirty to thirty-five miles an hour.

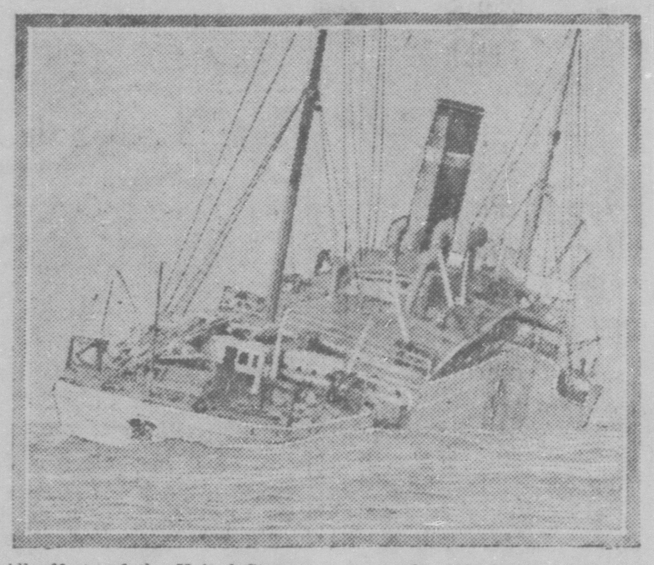
Army Transport Breaking Up on Shoals



All efforts of the United States ccast guards and the quartermasters department of the army to save the army transport Sumner, which went aground on the shoals of Barnegat, N.. J., seven weeks ago, have failed. The vessel has now broken in two in the middle, and is "hog-backed." There is little hope she will be saved.

SPORTSMEN VISIT THE OKEECHOBEE HUNTING GROUNDS

The Lake Okeechobee country has again been the happy hunting ground for a party of sportsmen from Akron, Ohio, Iowa and New York.

The party were the guests of Mr. J. K. Williams, on his yacht, Andria, Captain Lowe, and the members of the party were: Messrs. Stiles, Cherokee, Iowa; T. R. Washburn, Milan, Ohio; M. F. Anderson, New York; Frank Kelly, Milan, Ohio; S. S. Miller, J. A. H. Myers, N. O. Mather, Ed. McGaliard, M. S. Long, John Rowley, all of Akron, Ohio.

Mr. Williams, in speaking of the trip, was enthuiastic regarding the future of the Okeechobee country, and Moore Haven in particular, which was, he states, a complete surprise to the entire party. They had heard a great deal about the development, but had no conception of the development that had been accomplished in the past few months.

The party enjoyed the best of fishing in Lake Hicpochee also, as well as fine duck shooting, and report a most successful trip. They were surprised to find at Moore Haven a splendid hotel, affording all the conveniences of a city hotel, and serving meals that cannot be had generally, they being particularly inviting in as much as the vegetables are grown in the garden adjoining the hotel.

Mr. Williams is looking forward to another trip to Moore Haven next season, when he looks for still further progress in view of the coming of the railroad, for, as he stated, with the soil, the waterways, and the automobile roads, plus the railway, there is nothing that can stop this wonderful new country that is just becoming known to the visitor from the north.

TWO ENLISTMENTS OF MIAMI BOYS WHO ENTER ARMY SERVICE

Monroe W. Logan and Robert E. Atkinson of Miami have been accepted by the recruiting station in Miami for enlistment in the infantry branch of the U. S. Army Service. Both have departed for the main station at Jacksonville and will go from there to the big recruit depot for training.

"The infantry branch of service," said Recruiting Officer Bob Roper yesterday, "is one among many that offer quick promotion, and there is no reason why these two youngsters should not advance rapidly, as they both seem to be very ambitious and, above all, willing to serve their country."

TAFT BACKS PRESIDENT

Says the American People Will Stand Behind Wilson and Congress

Washington, Feb. 2.—In an adderss before the United States Chamber of Commerce former President Taft prefaced his prepared speech on the league to Enforce Peace, declaring that if the United States was drawn into war, Germany "would force it by her defiance of the plain principal of justice and humanity which should obtain between civilized nations."

He said that a heavy responsibility rests on the president and on congress.

"They should know and do know that the American people will back them in their decision," he said.

SHOULD EARN AND SAVE THE BETTER PART

What Thrift Means--Observance Today May Start Some New Habits

National Thrift Day, an observance begun a year ago, is today.

Practically everywhere in the United States the day will be observed.

Miami is no exception, and the banks here are calling upon the people today to esablish some new habits of thrift and save some of the earnings which they are wasting.

A well known banker in referring to the new annual observance says:

"Educators, economists, and, in fact, al constructive thinkers have long recognized the growing necessity for the practice of greater thrift on the part of American citizens if our national welfare is to be permanent and substantial. One only has to glance at history to realize that extravagance, in its disastrous effects upon national welfare, may be linked to the rapidly spreading parasite vine which, wrapping itself around the mighty oak, draws upon the very life and sustenance until the grand old tree decays, crumbles away and finally topples over.

"Without thrift, failure, dissatisfaction and discontent are inevitable, whether in the life of the nation, corporation, home or individual, and individual thrift is the foundation upon which is established community and national thrift.

"Before the individual can be expected to practice thrift, however, he must understand in what it really consists. Perhaps the foremost reason that the word thrift is a distasteful one to the ears of many of our citizens is that for years in this country there has been a general misconception of the term.

"Thrift is not, as many suppose, niggardliness or stint in the necessities and same enjoyments of life; in reality, it makes available more money for the things which make life really worth while through the elimination of unnecessary and useless expenditure.

"It is something more than saving, it means 'earning, working, palnning and increasing, as well as conserving. It is common sense in actual operation in every phase of human endeavor and activity.

"Rightly understood, the practice of thrift becomes a positive pleasure, for it is a wise adaptation of means toward a beneficent end—the constant maintenance of a fair standard of comfort and an increase of life's enjoyments and a lessened share of its burdens with the flight of years.

"The earning power of the people of the United States is very great, but their saving propensity is less fully developed than could be wished, though we are far from being a nation of spendthrifts. No doubt, by a proper utilization of the opportunities of Thrift Day, much valuable educational work could be done, and the suggestion to set aside one day of the year for the purpose of showing our people how their welfare would be advanced by the practice of greater thrift and economy is one that should receive the active co-operation of all."

LEAK

Believed to Have Existed, and Committee Wants More Time

WASHINGTON HEARINGS

To Which International Affairs Bring All of the Investigators

New York, Feb. 2.—Pressure of international affairs caused the committee investigating the leak on the president's recent peace note to transfer the hearing to Washington, where it will be resumed, tomorrow morning.

George A. Ellis, Jr., of the Hutton firm who sent broadcast to Hutton's correspondents F. A. Connolly's peace note forecast, will probably be the first witness.

Committeemen no longer seriously question that a leak existed. A request for more time to investigate further is expected.

The Hutton-Connolly messages are considered so important that the whole inquiry is centered in the unfolding of the facts surrounding them.

AIR TRIPS POPULAR

And E. W. Straub Will Bring New Five Passenger Flier Here

The flying craze has struck Miami to such an extent that another flying boat will be brought here within the next few weeks. E. W. Straub, who has been operating the Benoist hydroplane, will leave the city on an early train today for New York where he will make arrangements to bring a five passenger machine to Miami as early as possible.

Mr. Straub said last night that the demand for air trips during the past week or so has been such that one machine cannot attend to the business and his concern will add another and larger flying boat which should be here in about fifteen days. Mr. Straub will bring the machine back himself and will fly from Jacksonville to Miami in it. He expects to reach Miami on or about February 22.

During Mr. Straub's absence the machine that is already here will be operated by A. J. Brubaker, of New York, who has made a number of flights in it and who is a competent operator.

The new machine is equipped with a 110-horsepower motor and is somewhat larger than the one now being used here.

Included in the large number of people who have made flights with Mr. Straub, were a number of women who seem to be more daring about flying than the men and take more delight in making high ascenstions.

IN MEMORY OF SIDNEY LANIER

Macon, Ga., Feb. 2.—Local literary societies have prepared for a suitable observance of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the birth of Sidney Lanier, one of the most noted of southern poets, whose birth occurred in this city, February 3, 1842. The poet was educated at Oglethorpe collge and after his graduation he served for a time as tutor at that institution.

At the beginning of the civil war he enlisted in the second Georgia battalion and served in the battles of Seven Pines, Drewery's Bluff and the seven days' fighting about Richmond.

In 1863 his detachment was mounted and did service in North Carolina and Virginia. Toward the close of the war the future poet commanded a blockade-runner. His vessel was captured and he was imprisoned for five months.

After the war Lanier resumed educational work, but soon abandoned it for the study of law. After several years of practice in his new profession he was obliged to give it up on account of poor health. During the remainder of his life he made his home in Baltimore, but spent the most of his time in traveling from one locality to another in search of health. His first published work was "Tiger Lilies," which appeard in 1867.

In the years that followed he wrote a dozen or more volumes of poetry and prose and in addition made many notable contributions to magazines. In the early part of 1881 he made his last visit to New York, to arrange for the publication of his books, and was there taken so seriously ill that he was removed to North Carolina, where his death occurred the following September.

INTO COURT TO RECOVER WOMAN'S BODY

Replevin Suit By Relatives Against An Undertaker In St. Petersburg

St. Petersburg, Feb. 2.—A writ of replevin for the return of a dead body is the latest novelty in the local courts, being used by relatives of Miss Mary Drake, after disagreement with the undertaker over the price of his services. This is the first time that such a writ has ever been issued here and probably the first time in the history of the state.

Miss Drake died Saturday. The body was prepared for burial by Undertaker W. F. Armstrong, who embalmed it and dressed it for burial. He removed the body to his place of business on Central avenue. The relatives who were here went to Mr. Armstrong's place of business Saturday afternoon to select a casket but there was disagreement regarding the price charged. The relatives insisted the price was too high. They then went to the undertaking parlors of S. D. Harris and selected a casket that suited them and returned to Mr. Armstrong's to get the body. Mr. Armstrong and the relatives then had an argument over the price for his services in embalming the body. The relatives refused to pay the amount asked by Mr. Armstrong.

Gilbert D. Rue, a friend of the family of the dead woman, then went before Magistrate R. R. Carter and in behalf of Mrs. Ada Vernon, a relative of Mrs. Drake, secured a writ of replevin for the body. This was served over the telephone by Constable Strickland who took possession of the body and took it to Mr. Harris' place of business. It was placed in a casket and taken back to Miss Drake's old home in Trenton, N. J.

Mr. Armstrong says he had been put to considerable expense and had devoted a great deal of time to the preparation of the body and believed his services were worth what he charged, his fee being more where the casket was not purchased from him. He said that he did not refuse to give up the body, but went home to supper expecting to have the whole thing satisfactorily settled. While he was at supper the papers were issued by the magistrate and served on him over the telephone. He says he recognized that this was not a legal service, but told the constable he would come down right away. When he arrived, he said, the body had been taken from the place of business.

KNUTE NELSON NEARS HIS 75TH MILESTONE

Washington, Feb. 2.—Knute Nelson of Minnesota, one of the most picturesque figures in the United States senate, received the congratulations of his colleagues today on the beginning of his seventy-fifth year. Senator Nelson was born in Norway, February 2, 1843, and describes himself as a "descendant from a long line of Norwegian pirates." He came to America in 1849 and during the civil war served in the Fourth Wisconsin infantry. In 1871 he moved to Minnesota and the following year began his public career as county attorney of Douglas county. In 1892, after having served several terms in congress, he was elected governor of Minnesota. Mr. Nelson came to the senate in 1895 and is now one of the oldest members of the upper house in point of service.

SECOND

Day Submarine Warfare Shows No Material Increase in Losses

TWO NEUTRAL VESSELS

Included in the Six Which Make Up Yesterday's Reported Total

Associated Press, Feb. 2.—The second day of the new German submarine warfare has apparently not resulted in the increased sinking of any ships. London dispatches announce the sinking of five vessels, including one neutral, the Spanish steamer Algorta, a two thousand ton vessel.

There is also a report that the Norwegian steamer, Hecla, has been sunk.

On the battle fronts the inactivity of the past few days continues. Patrol engagements and reconnoitering expeditions, in addition to the regular artillery bombardments, are reported on the French front which are the most active of all.

Both British and Germans report successful raids in the Somme region.

The bad weather hampers the big operations in Macedonia and along the Russian front.

CAPE SABLE SELECTED FOR THE BELGIANS

Colony to Be Established By New York Capital—Two Thousand Acres

New York financiers are behind a movement to bring many Belgians to this country with a view to locating them in South Florida, where they may begin life over again. This project has been in hand for several months, and investigations have been carried on quietly and extensively until it is pretty definitely settled that a location at Cape Sable has been selected.

Yesterday a representative of some of the interests conferred with agents of this land, and has gone to New York to place the details before the Belgian consul and others who are back of the enterprise.

It is stated that money will be provided to establish each family on a ten acre tract, furnishing them with a suitable house, farming machinery and stock, necessary to equip them comfortably. A tract of 2,000 acres has been surveyed and laid out for this purpose, and The Herald is reliably informed that active operations are about to begin.

STOP CALOMEL! TAKE DODSON'S LIVER TONE

New Discovery! Takes Place of Dangerous Calomel—It Puts Your Liver To Work Without Making You Sick—Eat Anything—It Can Not Salivate—Don't Lose a Day's Work!

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to try a bottle and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work. I want to see a bottle of this wonderful liver medicine in every home here.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones, often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work.

Get a bottle! Try it! If it doesn't do exactly what I say, tell your dealer to hand your money back. Every druggist and store keeper here knows me and knows of my wonderful discovery of a vegetable medicine that takes the place of dangerous calomel.

APPRECIATIVE CANADIANS

Send Letter to Chamber of Commerce Thanking Members and Praising Miami

"Just because they felt like it" the sixty seven members of the Cuthbert party of Canadians who recently visited Miami, wrote a communication expressing their appreciation of Miami's attractions and the hospitality extended them by members of the Miami Chamber of Commerce, and requested Mrs. Estelle Y. Cuthbert to send it to the Chamber of Commerce.

In her letter Mrs. Cuthbert says:

"Just because they felt like it our party brought me the enclosed this morning and and I have great pleasure in forwarding you this small but hearty expression of appreciation for your kindness, and it answers also as a testimony of how much we enjoyed our visit to your charming town.

"Our leaving was by no means unanimous, but we want to cover Florida thoroughly, so the Cuthberts are to blame."

The expression of appreciation, signed by all the members of the party, follows:

"At a meeting of the members of the 'Cuthbert Party' from Canada en-

C. of Toronto and seconded by Bruce Harvey of Hamilton that the members of the Cuthbert Tour desire to convey to the members of the Chamber of Commerce and Realty Board of Miami, and all others who assisted in making their visit to Miami so pleasant, their thanks for the hospitality, courtesy and kindness extended to them.

"Moved by J. H. Stanley of Port Colbourne, seconded by P. A. Skinner of Niagara Falls that the minutes of this meeting be reduced to writing and forwarded to the Chamber of Commerce, and that each one of us endeavor to show in some practical form by resolving to let the people of the north know the beauties and attractions of the beautiful City of Palms, so charmingly located amid its luxuriant tropical wealth and blessed with almost continuous sunshine, mellowed by the cooling breezes of the ocean, wish to manifest our hearty support of this resolution by each of the members of the party affixing their signatures hereto."

KNOWING YOUR CAR AND WHAT AILS IT

How many automobile owners know exactly what takes place underneath the hood of their car when it purrs along, contentedly eating up miles with a comfort and ease which stirs no attention to its feat?

The throngs who crowded the Hippodrome last evening, were told just what takes place in this heretofore mysterious compartment. The explanation was given by Gilman M. Flint in his motion picture lecture on the Knight sleeve valve motor.

Before entering into the detail explanation of the Knight sleeve valve motor Mr. Flint brought considerable joy to automobile owners present by announcing that he had received authentic information from high automobile authorities that the price of gasoline had reached its maximum height and that a drop in gasoline quotations is anticipated within a short time.

With the aid of an excellent series of motion pictures the speaker was able to go into the minutest detail concerning the construction and operation of the Knight sleeve valve motor.

Swastika Was Beautiful Setting Successful Tea Dance and Bazaar

Swastika, the beautiful estate of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Matheson of Cocoanut Grove was the charming setting for the hugely successful tea dance and bazaar given there yesterday afternoon from three to six for the benefit of St. Stephens Episcopal church of Cocoanut Grove. The smooth green lawns sloping gradually to the water edge, the groups of shrubbery, the green walled tennis court that was the dance floor and the huge poinciana tree under which tea was served, as well as the wide piazzas and the charming house itself served as a lovely background for the more than two hundred people who helped make the affair the success that it unquestionably was.

The tennis court was one of the most popular places for the afternoon and was crowded with dancers except for the time when M. and Mme. Roberto of the Royal Palm Hotel were given the floor all to themselves for their graceful exhibition dancing which attracted much attention and much applause.

As the short tropic dusk deepened to night the tiny electric lights all over the grounds and brilliantly clustered about the dance floor were flashed on, making the whole estate a sort of glorified Arabian Nights vision and causing the guests to linger long over its beauties.

Receiving the host of guests were Mrs. W. J. Matheson, Mrs. Hugh Matheson and Mrs. Kirk Munroe.

Serving tea under the poinciana were Mrs. Malcolm Matheson, Mrs. Price and Miss Jessie Crawford while the fancy work booth was in charge of Mrs. Bindley, Mrs. Albert Ross, Mrs. Henry Mallory and Mrs. McMillan.

Although late last evening the financial returns were not all computed Mrs. Matheson said that there was no question about the success of the afternoon and expressed herself as delighted with the results.

The guests who were present came not only from Cocoanut Grove, especially the Hopkin's School and the Adirondack-Florida school boys, but many from Miami and the Hotels Royal Palm, Halcyon and Urmey, and a large party which motored from the Poinciana hotel in Palm Beach especially for the occasion.

State Regent Mrs. Carruth In Report To Florida D.A.R. At the Deland Convention

The following interesting paragraphs from the report of Mrs. M. D. Carruth, State Regent, was given on Wednesday at the annual convention of the Florida Daughters of the American Revolution in Deland.

Mrs. Carruth said:

Daughters of Florida: At the last state conference, the report of your state regent covered a busy year—a year in which she had striven to prove to you her appreciation of the trust placed in her and her ability to carry on the work begun by the patriotic and loyal women of our state when the national society was young and brought to that time by other women equally patriotic and loyal to the principles set forth in our constitution.

Correspondence has been state wide in quest of members and organizing regent; personal visits made in Kissimmee, Ocala and Tallahassee; chapter visits in Tampa and St. Petersburg; we visited Jacksonville for board meeting and was entertained as state regent by Miss Meigs; attended the May board meeting on the national society, but could not return for the one held in June, and could not attend the September meeting, which was especially interesting as the president general entertained at luncheon and a trip to Monticello was made. During the December meeting Mrs. Augsbury, historian general, and Mrs. Spraner, state regent, New York, entertained at luncheon. It was impossible for us to attend because of Christmas affairs

MR. AND MRS. BRYAN WERE LUNCHEON GUESTS OF TENNESSEE SUFFRAGISTS

Nashville, Feb. 2.—"Suffrage will promote real comradeship in the home." This was the keynote of Mrs. William Jennings Bryan's talk to suffragists at a luncheon given in her honor here Tuesday afternoon.

She declared that acquiring of ballots by women will bring about a higher standard of citizenship through training the children.

When it came Mrs. Bryan's time to speak she mounted a chair to command a better view of her audience. She called attention to the modern conditions when so many women are supporting themselves. To those who oppose suffrage for women, the speaker said they are prejudiced and their opposition dates back generations.

Mr. Bryan was also a guest of the luncheon, but he only spoke a few words giving his indorsement to the suffrage moveemnt. He said:

"You are on the right side; you cannot fail, and it will be only a short time until the right of the ballot is yours. There are two arguments I will suggest for equal suffrage," said Mr. Bryan. "First, only two things should bar a voter—morality and intelligence—and certainly women possess these. The other is that you can tell a cause by the company it keeps."

Other guests of the occasion were Gov. Rye, Speakers Clyde Shropsnire and W. R. Crabtree, of the house and senate, respectively, and a number of the members of the legislature.

Gov. Rye was the toastmaster of the luncheon and lent his indorsement to suffrage.

FORCED TO TAKE SIDES

What is beyond the severing of diplomatic relations with Germany? That is the question that thoughtful Americans are asking themselves, every minute of this "solemn hour," as Judge Hughes calls it. Not that Americans are facing whatever may be beyond with fear or trembling or undue apprehension but becaumse they want to know just what is their duty and what is the duty of the country.

Without any fault of our own, and while we were striving to perform our duty as a neutral, we are suddenly confronted with the necessity for the protection of American lives and property and for the safeguarding of the territory and the sovereignty of the nation, by taking those first steps that may lead to actual hostilities. That is the cold fact. That is the situation with which the United States is confronted today.

Against our will, as a neutral, and because we have been hopeful that we could keep out of the war under all circumstances, we are being forced into active alignment with the entente allies.

We are involuntarily, in this instance, fulfilling our national destiny as the supporter of the democracy of the world.

Stripped of all its technicalities, not regarding the volumes of charge and counter charge of accusation and excuse, the war in Europe was brought on and is being prosecuted to determine whether monarchy or democray shall survive as the governing principle of the world. There is no other question.

Bound by our own traditions, we have kept out of a war in which all our sympathies, all our individual help was for the people who were and are fighting for democracy. We have been severely blamed by those who are supporting the burden of actual conflict that we have seemingly left them to carry on the struggle unaided by the greatest democratic force in the world. Our own people, who have recognized that we have rather belied our own professions of devotion to democracy in that we did not at once side with those who are fighting to save Belgium and France, and who are struggling to destroy the last stronghold of autocracy in Europe, have not hesitated to criticize the policy of the administration.

We know that we have believed that we were serving the cause of the people best by remaining neutral. We know that we have beleived that the injunctions of Washington were a safe guide for this people to follow. We know that we have believed that ourselves and the world would be the better for our staying out of the European conflict.

But now, if we are forced to abandon our traditions, are forced to take sides as between democracy and autocracy, are forced to enter European political entanglements, we can range ourselves on the side of democracy in the full belief that we will still be accomplishing our destiny and that we will be of influence in settling the great question as to whether the people or the monarch shall rule by right divine.

WAS SURE TO COME

With the continued extension of the idea of city manager form of government for municipalities, it was to be expected that restless souls would want the field of manager government to be materially widened. It was also to be expected that the first step looking toward such enlargement would come from Kansas or—Oklahoma.

Kansas has done it. There has been introduced into the senate of that state a bill which proposes to place the management of the entire state, or at least all its public institutions, in the hands of one man and to hold him accountable for the administration of public affairs.

Under the bill, if it becomes a law, the governor will select a commission of four members, he being included in the commission, who will, in turn, elect a state manager. The members of the commission are to be selected for their ability in their private affairs, and who are sufficiently well fixed with worldly goods not to require any pay for their services, except for their bare expenses. They select the manager and hold him responsible for the conduct of all affairs committed to him.

The familiar argument that the proposed measure will prevent all "passing of the buck," that it will permit the immediate fixing of responsibility, is heard in support of the measure, which is finding many supporters in the state of Kansas and in the legislature.

It was sure to come, and with the rapidity with which things move, these days, we may expect to hear, almost any time, that the proposition has been submitted to congress to do away with all bureaus and commissions and select a national manager to be elected by a commission composed of able men of the country who will serve without pay.

The singular thing about it is that in all these experiments in government the farther away we get from the idea of pure democratic rule, the greater efficiency we seem to secure and really make money and secure better results by the change.

But do the people of this country want to barter their self government for efficiency or anything else?

Probably what those Mexicans are rioting about is that they are being forced to take a bath before the spring rise in the Rio Grande.

WILL BE DAMAGED

It is apparent, this morning, that Florida has been visited by another of those cold waves, the like of which has not occurred since 1898 and 1904. What the damage may have been last night in the orange belt cannot now, of course, be stated. The new bloom was just making its appearance and there is great probability that new growth and young trees were badly damaged. Most of the orange crop, however, had been gathered and disposed of.

In this section of the state there has probably been considerable damage to growing truck, and of that there can also be no estimate made at this time. Those who had protection for their crops, or were able to create protection, are probably all safe, but for a time there will be visible all the ravages of frost on the tender tropical vegetation of the section.

This explodes, once more, the all too prevalent idea that there is a hard and fast line below which frost will not come in Florida. There is no such thing as a frost line in the United States, and well informed people have always known it.

Whatever damage has been inflicted by the unprecedented cold, a cold sent to us as a part of the terrible wave that is sweeping over the entire country, will be immediately repaired. The grower will replant, foliage will immediately put out again and within a few weeks, at the farthest, all traces of the accident, for which we are not responsible, will be obliterated by a kindly nature.

PROTECTION NEEDED

Owing, probably, to the old custom of regularly setting fire to the old and dead grass, for the purpose of burning space for new pastures, there never has been a law in this state making it an offense to set fires in the woods. In the great states of the west, where either pasturage or timber is endangered by fire, the penalties either for wantonly or carelessly setting fires are extremely severe.

Here in Florida, there seems to be no penalty, and we have the spectacle, every year, of much property being placed in jeopardy from the thoughtlessness, carelessness, or worse, of those who build fires in waste places, for any reason.

Very recently we have had some experience with this practice, not only outside of the city, but within its limits.

A day or two ago a large number of residences in Riverside were threatened by a fire which was started by an economical lot owner who wanted to save the money that it would cost him to have the rubbish from his lot carted off.

Yesterday the whole of Riverside Heights was imperiled by a fire which came in from the unsettled portion of the county west of the western city limits. Fortunately, there was time to assemble a fighting force before residences were reached, but that was no merit of the person who wantonly started the extended conflagration.

Some means should be taken at once to prevent the recurrence of any of these preventable accidents. It can be done by act of the city council, so far as the territory within the city is concerned, but it would take legislative action to give a protection from the outside of the city.

DECEIVED THOSE CLOSEST TO IT

On last Tuesday a correspondent of the New York World, who is recognized as one of the leading newspaper writers of the world, and one who is unusually well posted on foreign politics, cabled his papers as follows:

> From an unusually well informed source, I learn that the ghost of the Tirpitzian submarine war again has been laid and that at the great headquarters conference the proposition to revive the ruthless submarine warfare and to tear up the pledges made to America was voted down.

On the following day there came over the cables to the German ambassador at Washington, a note from German authority which, in substance, said that the submarine warfare, which Tirpitz urged and which the correspondent said had been abandoned, would be put in full force and effect, in spite of all the promises Germany has made to this country and the world.

In spite of the correspondent's assurances the Tirpitzian program never for one moment has been abandoned, in thought. Germany deceives even those who are closest to it, and defies the opinion of the entire world.

TRUE AMERICAN SPIRIT

Charles Evans Hughes, who was the candidate of the republican party for the presidency of the United States, at a great gathering of university men in New York, on Thursday night, made a patriotic speech in which he said that "every loyal American should stand behind the administration, in this solemn hour, without a partisan thought."

There spoke the true American spirit.

The Rocky Mountain club is one of New York City's wealthiest social organizations. It has been accumulating a fund to build a new home, which was to have cost at least a million dollars. Half of that sum has been raised. At a meeting of the board of directors, the other day, it was determined that the club should forego, for the present, the building of new headquarters, and that the five hundred thousand dollars raised for a building fund should be donated to the relief of suffering Belgians.

There acted the true American spirit.

With such examples of patriotism and self sacrifice, who can doubt the future of this country of ours?

BUSY RUMOR

Behold, what a great matter a little rumor kindleth.

Madame Rumor suddenly became busy yesterday evening when communication was cut off between Jacksonville and this city. Immediately it was said that Jacksonville was burning again, and that the city was practically destroyed.

Because, temporarily, a storm had placed the wires between this city and the metropolis out of comnrission, it was immediately imagined that the telegraph offices in Jacksonville were closed, and that led to the inference, of course, that the greater part of the city had again gone up in smoke.

Telephones became busy and The Herald office was called up repeatedly to verify the rumor, to give information, to tell the extent of the demage and all that sort of thing, people forgetting that when the wires are down a newspaper is as helpless as anyone else in the country with reference to news.

But it is a frost and not a fire that is afflicting the state.

The senate need not worry over the fate of the Monroe doctrine. It will not be upset by any new invention. It is already in force, while world peace leagues are still in dreamland. If the time should ever come when the United States is actually asked to subscribe to a treaty requiring it to place its army and navy under the orders of a world captain named by Europe, there will be a senate to pass upon the treaty, and there will be a still mightier nation to support it in the maintenance of a true American policy.

The Mexican Constitutional Convention goes on its way as if popular government were practicable in Mexico, and such we hope the event will prove. Congress is to meet in the middle of April. Before that there is to be a presidential election, and congress is to canvass the vote and declare the elected candiate. All the machinery for a real republic is organized, the important questions being whether the men in control of the army will allow a free election, and whether the voters will exercise their rights. Carranza has an opportunity to immortalize himself by declining to be a candiate, and seeing that the men who are candidates shall have a fair chance. The Mexican people have their destiny in their own hands.

For almost two decades the National Association of Audubon Societies has been laboring for the protection of wild birds and animals. One of its greatest achievements was the ratification last December of the migratory bird treaty between this country and Canada. When this treaty becomes a law the protection of migratory birds will be an international duty and then all our feathered friends from the Arctic Circle to the Gulf of Mexico will be safe. But power and force must be given to the treaty by the United States before it becomes operative, and a bill, known as the migratory bird treaty act, now pending in congress, aims to put into operation those far reaching reforms for which bird conservationists have labored so long. Congress is busy and it is a very short session, but surely our national legislators can find time to pass this measure, which means continued life to thousands of song and non-game birds.

SEA ISLAND COTTON REQUIRES CLOSE STUDY

Gainesville, Feb. 2.—Big prices for Sea Island cotton are tempting many Florida farmers who have never grown cotton to plant it this year. This is especially true in the south half of the state, where the boll weevil has not yet struck and the outlook is tempting. E. S. Pace, district agent to the University of Florida extension division, insists that such farmers read Farmers' Bulletin 787 published by the U. S. department of agriculture.

Bulletin 787 is full of information the farmer should have before deciding to grow cotton. In it the present growing area is shown and the ideal crop requirements, markets, prices, cultivation, fertilizers, soil preparation, seed selection, handling the crop, and diseases affecting Sea Island cotton are discussed.

"There is little encouragement to offer to those who would attempt to introduce the culture of Sea Island cotton into other parts of the country than where it is now grown," says the bulletin. "Many such trials have been made during the past hundred years, and all have failed.

WOODS FIRES BURNED NEAR FINE HOMES

One Yesterday Threatened North Part of Riverside Heights, Another in Riverside

Two serious woods fires kept the local fire department busy for several hours yesterday and, for a time, alarmed the entire Riverside section of the city.

For three hours the entire department and many citizens fought a serious woods fire in the Riverside Heights section, where fire burned the woods and grass for a mile square and threatened a number of fine residences.

The fire originated from some unknown cause on Fifth street, near avenue V, and spread all over that locality before being checked. A forty-mile gale was blowing at the time, which handicapped the firemen and would have caused a very serious conflagration had not the firemen gone out in force and, with the aid of many citizens, checked the blaze.

When the firemen had finished with the first fire, an alarm came in from Fifteenth street near avenue M, where fire was discovered in the wooded district lying north of that street. The latter fire had not gotten much headway, and was put out with little trouble.

The first alarm came in at 11.33 a. m., while a number of the firemen were at lunch and this helped to handicap Chief Chase, who was short of men. The back taps were sounded at about 2.30 o'clock for this blaze, but the apparatus was no sooner in than the second alarm was sounded.

The first fire looked so threatening that many residents of the vicinity of the blaze returned to their homes where they remained until the fire was extinguished. The fire attracted hundreds of people from all parts of the city, who at first thought that several buildings were burning, and the streets near the scene of the conflagration were packed with automobiles.

NEW RECORDS FOR WEATHER IN JANUARY

The January meteorological summary for Miami, issued by the local Weather Bureau Office, contains some new records that were established last month. The percentage of sunshine was the highest of any January of record, the number of cloudy days was the least of record for any month, and the wind movement was the least of record for any January.

The month was also the driest January since 1902, in which year January was entirely rainless.

The mean temperature for the month, 69.8 degrees was 2.5 degrees above the normal. The highest temperature recorded was 79 degrees, on the 24th, and the lowest was 43 degrees, on the 12th. The greatest and least daily ranges of temperature were 25 degrees and 4 degrees, respectively.

The total rainfall was only 0.11 inch, which is 3.34 inches below the normal. Measurable precipitation occurred on only 3 days, and the greatest amount recorded in any 24 hour period was 0.05 inch, on the 1st. The drought which continued at the close of the month is probably the most severe ever experienced in Miami and vicinity.

The prevailing winds were east, and there was an average hourly wind movement of only 7.9 miles. The highest velocity recorded was 26 miles per hour, from the northwest, on the 11th.

There were 18 clear days, 12 partly cloudy days, and 1 cloudy day during the month, and there were no days without sunshine. The total sunshine received equalled 80 percent of the possible amount for January.

Frosts occurred in the vicinity of Miami on the 12th.

HEAVY WRAPS CALLED OUT

Weather Spurt Produces Varied Assortment of Heavy Garments in Miami

The odor of moth balls was quite noticeable in Miami yesterday when the cold wave struck the city, and home folks and visitors delved deep into trunks and closets for the overcoats they thought they would have no use for this winter.

And these same overcoats were treated like old friends who had strayed far and long and were seen again yesterday for the first time in long years.

It is a safe prediction that every overcoat and heavy wrap in Miami was brought out and used not only for the adornment of the owner, but as a means of keeping his or her body warm and for protection against the chilly blasts that swept across the peninsula from the northwest.

No census taker could have estimated the number of overcoats by one-tenth before the cold wave winds came, but afterward it seemed a sure thing that every man owning a coat had it on, and it was really astonishing that there were so many in Miami.

On the streets one could see all kinds and styles of overcoats. Some were long and some were short, some were tight fitting and some were loose. There were black and gray ones and others of nondescript greenish color with the appearance of a ripe old age about them, and some seemed perfectly new.

People who haven't worn overcoats for years had them on last night and paraded the streets with the evident intention of letting their neighbors know that they own coats.

The visitors who had no overcoats and others who preferred the comfort of the hotel rotundas, stayed in doors and played cards, read or merely idled or gossiped about their neighbors, talked about the stock market or speculated on the effect of the German declaration in the United States and what President Wilson will do now.

Gone for the time were the beach parties and the fishing expeditions, the cruises on the bay and the other open-air pleasures. A few, however, went out motoring in their cars, well protected with heavy wraps and rugs, while others thought they were brave when they ventured out for a stroll down town.

At bedtime many of the overcoats were used for covering, thus being made to work two shifts of twelve hours each. It is evident they have not been incorporated into a union or there might have been trouble because of the double duty they were called on to perform.

SOCIETY

for home-coming children. And January 17, Mrs. Leary, of Washington, and Mrs. Haines Smith, of Virginia, entertained the board at luncheon; Mr. Carruth being dangerously ill, I could not go, although I had a special wire from Mrs. Story and felt that it was imperative.

This administration has labored under many disadvantages. The stress of war has been terribly felt by all peoples, financially and in every other way. It has been impossible to combat the money question in chapters already formed, and how much more impossible in trying to form chapters—people haven't the money.

At conference in 1915 we had three hundred and fifty-seven (357) members. Up to October 13, 1916, we had four hundred and eighty-two (482) members, showing a gain of one hundred and twenty-five (125). At the December meeting of the national society board they admitted to membership twenty-three, making a total gain of one hundred and forty-eight (148).

Deceased 6, dropped 6, ersigned 5; 12 chapters, 1 weak; 14 chapters, 1 weak.

January board meeting admitted none.

For two years we have had no Legislature, and until May we can bring no prepared work before our state fathers, for decision. Three are several matters which have seen lying dormant—the state flag law, marking the highways, the preservation of historic spots and aiding the Seminoles—all vital questions.

Florida is one of the few remaining states without a flag law. Our splendid national chairman. Mrs. George Maefarlane, has passed away, but in reply to her urgent letters and splendid vigorous work, I had promised to bring forward a model flag law at the first opportunity.

The marking of the highways was a resolution passed at the last conference, and, no doubt, the state will aid us in doing this, but we must ask.

As to historic spots, we have many that should be preserved, and the daughters should not cease to urge this matter.

The call comes for a donation to aid in purchasing a portrait of Mrs. Story for Memorial Continental Hall. It is a privilege accorded us, and an honor given all president generals.

Florida's gifts to M. C. H. are named in the treasurer's report for 1916—some platform chairs, a state spoon and some teaspoons for banquet. A bunting flag was given by Everglade Chapter in honor of their beloved founder, regent and state regent, Mrs. Frissell. It is the present state regent's desire to have that chapter replace that flag with a silk one in accordance with the suggestion of the curator general, i. e., that all states have silk flags, and many are exchanging them; the silk flag to be given by the chapter, or give all the chapters the privilege of giving it in Mrs. Frissell's honor, and having the bunting flag returned to the state for use at conferences, and board meetings.

Your state regent had the honor to be placed upon the house and reception committees for congress last year and is a member of the following committees: Welfare of women and children, conservation, conservation of homes, transportation and Memorial Continental Hall. There are forty-one national committees and sub committees, twenty-one represented in the state.

On request, a list of members at large was sent the state regent, who has endeavored to place ters or as organizing regents.

Two new chapters have been added: Ponce de Leon, of Winter Haven, and Ocklawaha, of Eustis, both flourishing. The chapter at Ocala, of long years growing, should be ready. Th chapter in Pensacola is about ready. We expect a revival there of the Dorothy Walton Chapter, disbanded in 1904. (See records.) Those resigned will join, or have joined, chapters.

Mrs. Robinson has been appointed in Ocala.

Mrs. Wilson reappointed at Kissimmee.

We will have a chapter at:

Gainesville—Mrs. Holton, organizing regent.
Lakeland—Mrs. Shurman.
Bartow—Miss Preston.
Tallahassee—Mrs. Shackleford.
Madison—Mrs. Cate.
Plant City—Mrs. Alexander.
Perry—Mrs. Brownell.
Pensacola—Mrs. Whitfield.
West Palm Beach—Mrs. Robbins.
Sarasota—Mrs. Bromley.
Clearwater—Miss Fitzwater.

By Congress we hope to report twenty. Your regent has been diligent and is proud of results. Am sorry to say that New Smyrna has at last almost succumbed to the long call, of distress. It was on the verge of death when we went into office and poor Victoria Chapter is about to pass out. I am sorry, but it is no fault of the state regent. They responded to the Belgian flag fund splendidly, but the interest seemed to die out—a pity, too, for that location abounds in historic ground. Can the next regent spur them on? Perhaps it needs closer touch with the state executive.

In conclusion, I wish to say that the incoming state executive will find files filled with interesting data for her help. The state secretary and the historian have followed instructions splendidly, and we believe that a larger state work is rapidly coming.

ST. CATHERINE'S GUILD CLEARED GOODLY AMOUNT

A round fifty dollars is the sum that the members of St. Catherine's Guild of the Trinity Episcopal church are rejoicing in since they heard the report of their treasurer at the business meeting last night. This sum the girls earned themselves with the delightful "Evening with Harrison Fisher" which they planned and staged themselves.

The business meeting last night at the home of the Misses Huelsenkamp was concerned with this and other important guild matters. They perfected their plans for their share of the bazaar which is the big effort of the church guild's for next week. The girls will have a final business meeting at the Rectory on Monday night before the bazaar is opened.

After the business last evening refreshments were served.

The members present were the Misses Kathleen, Bertha, and Annie Huelsenkamp, Jessie Fuzzard, Fanny and Evelyn Hopkins, Arline Lotz, Marian and Margaret Hazlett, Evelyn Spencer, Florence Anderson, Kathleen Irwin and Elsie Tuttle.

BACK OF THE BREAD LINE

Some years ago it was the fortune of the writer to visit the mission then being conducted at old Asbury church near Washington square in New York city, and to watch the men lined up in the breadline at 1 a. m. In the breadlines which form in New York and nearly every great city at midnight are to be found scores of unfortunate men brought there by illness, misfortune and industrial changes. Untrained and unpurposed college men are there, green boys from the country, over confident, smart boys from other cities, immigrants from Europe duped of their possessions, youths in their teens who went out to see the world, form perhaps one-half of these men glad for the piece of bread.

But there's a lesson from the other half, for the man who has not reached the breadline, but is dangerously near it and may not know it. In many years of daily contact with men in distress, I have come to learn that the reason why so many men are in the down-and-out class is the lack of thrift. They have failed to recognize the fundamental economic laws of life. The average young man is not trained along practical lines. He has not learned the value of money, been taught a trade, or made to earn his own money. His education has been without aim. He has lived entirely for the present, trusting to luck for the future. He has struck the wrong crowd. Thousands of them are young men of good natural qualities, but untrained, untaught, unprincipled: life has been a playday for them, with not thought for the future or for old age.

Drink, gambling, licentiousness, which lessened ability and lead to extravagance in the free and easy way of the crowd, ten years or five or one year before has brought thousands and thousands of men to the bread line every year. And this is true even in years of great prosperity. The man is not found here who has stood by his family and his church or had been given a proper sense of the value of a dollar.

But many a man "comes to himself" in the bread line, and has readjusted his life when through the helping touch of some friendly hand he has been made to see the teachings of the Bible, the sound morality of the home, and the strict principles of business in a new light. Then when he got back on his feet and earned a dollar, it was not to throw it away. In the "gospel of the second chance" he saw that thrift had a place. He commenced to build again, though it was painful, hard, uphill work with a thriftless past to overcome. And how much a man wishes that ten years back of the bread line he had known half as much as he does now of the need of husbanding his resources and felt as deeply his need of thrift! Too many of these men owed their condition to their fathers' foolishness more than to their own.

Conditions have not changed. Young men still need to heed the wisdom that the ages teach, and which Solomon so well put for the men of his day and of ours:

"Go to the ant, thou sluggard;
Consider her ways, and be wise:
Which having no chief,
Overseer, or ruler,
Provideth her bread in the summer,
And gathereth her food in the harvest.
How long wilt thou sleep, O sluggard?
When wilt thou arise out of thy sleep?
Yet a little sleep, a little slumber,
A little folding of the hands to sleep:
So shall thy poverty come as a robber,
And thy want as an armed man."

STRONG NEW ORGANIZATION

Joins Miami's Many Strong Financial Institutions With Large Capital

Another strong financial institution is assured to Miami with the announcement yesterday by L. T. Highleyman, president of the Fidelity Bank and Trust Company, that one half of the two hundred and fifty thousand dollar capital of the proposed Fidelity Mortgage Guarantee Company has been subscribed within five days.

The new institution is intended to provide money for loans on improved real estate and the financing of building operations in Miami covering residences, business properties, apartment houses and hotels, and also for the guaranteeing of mortgages and titles, and issuing debenture bonds secured by mortgages and guaranteed by the company. It will be conducted on the same lines as the Strauss-Embrey Company of Chicago, and the Mortgage Guarantee Company of St. Louis.

Mr. Highleyman expressed the opinion that "a company of this character is a necessity in a growing town like Miami, where so much building is constantly under way. The Fidelity Mortgage Guarantee Company is a local institution, backed by men of national standing who have local interest and have seen the wonderful possibilities in Miami and have shown their belief in the permanancy of the city's development and future greatness."

He declared the creation of the new company will provide an added amount of capital right at hand for further development.

The Fidelity Mortgage and Guarantee Company has for its officers: E. C. McGraw, of Pittsburg, head of the E. C. McGraw Rubber Company, president; L. T. Highleyman, vice president and treasurer; Harry McGown, cashier of the Fidelity Bank & Trust Company, secretary.

Messrs. McGraw and Highleyman, John H. Hanan of New York, head of the Hanan Shoe Company; Clarence M. Busch, of New York, capitalist; J. P. Logan, of New York, manufacturer of dress goods; John C. Gramling, state's attorney of the eleventh judicial circuit of Florida.

All of the officers and directors own valuable Miami property amounting to several hundred thousand dollars, and so are already interested in Miami's welfare and the formation of the new company is another evidence of their faith in the future.

"CHAPERON", BIG HIT ON STAGE AT PARAMOUNT TODAY

"The Chaperon" has been filmed! The famous stage hit has been made into a sparkling five-act comedy-drama by Essanay. It was written by Marion Fairfax and played to throngs on Broadway with Maxine Elliot in the title role.

Edna Mayo and Eugene O'Brien appear in the leading parts in the picturization. Sydney Ainsworth is the heavy lead. The rest of the cast is well selected.

The new feature is being released through Kleine-Edison-Selig-Essanay Servise. It is a play that President George K. Spoor of Essanay offers as an excellent vehicle of entertainment for any group of spectators.

FOTOSHO TODAY

Love and adventure vie with each other for the principal interest in William Fox's new feature film, "The Man From Bitter Roots," by Caroline Lockhart. An intricate story, which weaves into one the lives of three persons, deals with mining conditions in the great west.

A relentless fate seems to pursue Bruce Burt, the part played by William Farnum, from first to last. At the very end he is reconciled to a father from whom he had been estranged for many years. Not until then does he realize the happiness that he has deserved from the first.

DIXIE HIGHWAY TRACT

To those residing permanently in Miami and to tourists here for the season

J. A. Gates & Son, have a message.

We have formulated a plan whereby we can greatly reduce the price of real estate to purchasers, cause the business of real estate to be more highly respected, and to be more enjoyable and satisfactory to those engaged in the traffic.

We purpose to sell lots in a tract by employing hired salesmen just as a merchant sells goods in his store by clerks in his employ. Parties visiting our Dixie Highway Tract, now being offered, will be shown over the tract by our salesmen. A tag bearing the lot and block number and price of lot is attached to a stake placed in front of each lot, to be detached by purchaser and presented at office of tract owner, where papers in settlement will be drawn.

We can, we believe, by this method save purchaser 25 per cent or more and complete the transaction most expediciously and satisfactorily.

We especially call attention to location of our Dixie Highway Tract. It adjoins the Charles Deering place on the north and extends from Dixie Highway to Bay View Ave., overlooking the Bay. All inside lots are held at a uniform price of $195 each, corners $300. If in this connection you note the fact that lots in Flander's tract which adjoins the Charles Deering place on the south are held at prices ranging from about $3,000 to $5,000, and are on lower land; you will readily see that lots in Dixie Highway will certainly appreciate rapidly in value with the growth of Miami and that you will make no mistake in buying now. Is it unreasonable to expect an advance of one hundred per cent in values within one year. May we not urge those of our home people thinking to secure a lot while cheap in price and most attractively located to select now. May we not urge tourists seeking a place for building a winter home to visit us; and may we not especially urge builders who want to get a bunch of lots on which to build houses to sell or rent to select now while the selecting is good—the bunches are unbroken.

Dixie Highway Tract has many advantages, such as electric lights, telephones, jitney busses about half hourly, ice, meat, groceries delivered daily, daily mail delivery, high school, churches, literary clubs, fraternities, and other advantages of a happy and cultured community.

CRUEL SWEEP BY THE WAVE THAT FREEZES

Indications That Vegetation Will Suffer As Far South As Homestead

CENTER OF THE STATE

Apparently Doomed to Another Calamity, With Destruction to Many Groves

Weather bureau advices last night indicated that the temperatures in Florida this morning will range from 20 above zero at Jacksonville to freezing or slightly below at Miami and freezing as far south as Homestead.

At about 9 o'clock last night the thermometer of the weather bureau in Miami registered slightly below 40 and was falling.

Forecaster Gray said that the bureau expects everything in the way of small vegetables which is not protected to be killed.

"The condition will be serious in the central part of the state," he said, "for blooms and new growth of bearing trees, and tender young trees, will be killed undoubtedly."

Reports of progress of the wave last night indicated that tonight will be as cold as Friday night, although there is a slight chance of small rise in temperature.

Gales blew yesterday along the east coast and western Florida, seriously damaging the wire service of telegraph and telephone companies.

Indicating the severity of the storm, the following facts are taken from last night's telegraphic reports:

In Jacksonville the wind blew 60 miles an hour from the northwest. Highest temperature was 38, and at seven last night it was 30.

Tampa's highest temperature was 44, with 36 miles of wind an hour.

Chicago's highest temperature was zero.

Minneapolis had a maximum of 14 below zero.

Louisville, Ky., whose esteemed citizen is wintering in Miami, had maximum temperature of 4 above zero.

Memphis was 14 above at 7 last night.

Montgomery, Ala., was 22 above.

The wind velocity in Miami yesterday was 38 miles an hour.

Helping the Blind Soldiers of France

How the Permanently Disabled Soldier of Europe Is Being Instructed In Such Professions and Trades As Befits His Condition.

Copyright, 1917, by The International Syndicate.

ALL the European nations now at war soon realized that the conflict would be a long and expensive one, besides there would be hundreds and hundreds of thousands of wounded soldiers whose productive power would be greatly diminished. In fact, unless something was done at once to teach the armless, the legless and the blind how to provide for themselves the burden of the Government in caring for them and their dependants would be a heavy one.

How Germany Trains Her Cripples.

Germany was perhaps the first country to attempt the great work of rebuilding the shattered lives of her permanently disabled soldiers. To those who were crippled in the legs an electric treatment was prescribed and under it numbers of men who had been sent home as helpless as a child were able to walk once more. While many recovered there were thousands who had lost their limbs entirely and had to be provided with artificial arms and legs. These men after being fitted up are sent to the home for special cripples. There a special course of training begins in which the instructor tries to awaken an ambition in the patient to become independent of his family and friends. There is enough exercise to keep him from brooding over his misfortunes in war, for there are military duties to be performed all during the day. In case the right arm is gone the man is taught to use his left. Washing and dressing by the aid of the left hand is first learned. Next comes the cutting of his food and learning to handle his knife and fork at the table.

When this has been acquired left hand writing is taken up, and it is remarkable how soon the men become accustomed to this. The most important in this instruction, however, begins in the workshops connected with the homes where the blacksmiths, tailors, joiners, basketmakers, bookbinders, etc., are afforded an opportunity of plying their trades under the new conditions of artificial limbs. Those who all day long work there at the anvil or carpenter's bench soon lose the feeling of invalids and fresh hopes for the future come into their lives.

Aside from the practical instruction there is gymnasium work to maintain the remaining parts of the body in good condition and to keep up the spirits of the invalids. Whenever it is possible the men are given their old trades.

Blind Soldiers The Problem.

Of course, the greatest problem to all nations is that of the blind soldier, and there are thousands of these unfortunate creatures in the war zone. German surgeons have used their best efforts on the men blinded in battle and in some instances the sight has been restored, but these cases are rare and the greater part of the blind men will be sightless for the rest of their lives. They must be educated as children and are sent to hospitals for this blind where a course of training is given them, such as learning to read by raised letters by touch, to tell the distance people are from them by sound. After they become adepts in this they are instructed in basketmaking and in weaving straw chess boards. Making brushes is another trade in which they become expert. The trades which can be carried on by the blind are so limited that many of these men will have to be taken care of by their families or by the Government.

Belgian Machinery.

The Belgians are practically making men over by machinery at Fort Billez, a little town between Rouen and Paris. Some fifteen hundred wounded Belgian soldiers who were disabled on the Yser are at this place being made over for some useful occupation. The Belgians have always been famous for fine mechanical apparatus and here they have showed their genius in this line by the use of seven or eight new scientific instruments which measure precisely the efficiency of a wounded man.

The use of these novel instruments is only one phase of the great work being done in the training of men for trades. Men who have lost a leg were at first taught a trade in which little standing was required but later this was found to be a mistake and at present one legged men adapt themselves to standing at a printing case or working at a carpenter's bench. Most of the one legged men, however, prefer to work at tailoring or shoemaking. Usually a wounded soldier prefers some labor akin to that by which he made his living before the war.

An iron moulder who had lost his arms became a mould designer. While he was incapacitated for lifting the heavy moulds he was able by the use of his artificial arms to make drawings for them. A mason who had lost his arms became a stone designer, while a man who had been a waiter in a restaurant and who had lost his legs was turned out to be an excellent sign painter. Men who would become bookkeepers, expert accountants and stenographers are sent to a special school, after which they are given places in the Government offices and State banks. The work at Fort Billez is regarded as little short of marvelous. Indeed, it is a scientific Lourdes in its miracles in the rebuilding of men.

During the Liege campaign many Belgian soldiers became insane and these are housed in a special hospital and treatment is given in trying to restore their reason. So far there has been little success in this line and many of the men have died. The blind have a hospital of their own in charge of a noted Belgian eye specialist, who has made some remarkable cures among the men. Hundreds of cases are hopeless and where these men are in good physical condition they are being taught basketmaking and weaving.

Rebuilding Faces

In France the work of rebuilding men is going on in a literal sense, for soldiers whose faces have been shot to pieces are actually having new faces made over the old ones as well as being trained to be self-supporting. The mutilation of war is often so horrible as to make the wounded man's appearance so repulsive that even though he might be able to work his appearance would be such that no one would give him employment. So France is guarding against this by making her heroes presentable. Several American surgeons are aiding in this wonderful work.

The French method of training their invalid soldiers is chiefly a continuation of the study of symmetry of mind and body. It is a study of the utmost importance at any time for every year dangerous trades take a heavy toll of maimed and mutilated men. One of the studies is in muscular movements, or, in other words, how to perform a given task with the least expenditure of motion and force. Another is the training of men in the use of artificial arms and legs so that those who have lost their right hand can do the same work with their left. Manual training schools have been established, and some of the wounded have already become self-supporting in the various trades. Men who have been "gassed" are slow in recovering, and even after they have recovered are most susceptible to bronchial troubles and can only perform light tasks. Next to the blind soldier the "gassed" man is the greatest problem.

Americans Aid The French.

France too has thousands of blind soldiers, some of whom have head wounds as well, and this class will have to be taken care of by the State as their brain capacity has been so weakened that it is impossible for them to be re-educated. Special hospitals for the blind have been opened and the men are learning to use typewriters as well as basket-making. Many of these men are well educated and are anxious to do clerical work, and it was found that they soon learn the use of special typewriters for the blind, which, of course, have raised letters. Miss Winifred Holt, of New York City, who has done such splendid work among the blind of that city is at the head of one of the French hospitals for the blind soldiers, who have been sent to Paris.

Over in England the same work is being carried on, especially with the sightless. There the men frequently take their exercise in rowing boats under the guidance of their nurses and there have been several spirited contests on the Thames between crews of blind soldiers. This keeps the men in fine physical condition during their training in trades.

British Trained In Agriculture.

The maimed British soldiers and sailors are being taught some occupation and large numbers are being instructed in farming as it is Great Britain's plan to have large agricultural colonies of the men who were disabled in battle and a fund of $70,000,000 is being raised for this purpose. Expert agriculturists will aid the farmers who will settle in colonies and work on the community plan, having a general community house where living necessities may be purchased and farm products sold for shipment. With this end in view large numbers of wounded men are learning the art of gardening. Artificial legs and arms are given to the men. Many have become adept in wearing them and walk about the streets of London without the aid of canes.

Italy School For The Disabled.

Italy is educating all of her disabled soldiers, teaching them while they are still bedfast in the hospitals. "There is little pain to some wounds," declared an Italian surgeon, "and if the minds of the men are kept busy they soon recover. This teaching has really been a Godsend to some of the peasants who are rapidly acquiring knowledge." Their treatment in manual training is not unlike that of other nations, and as the Italian is quick to learn in mechanics hundreds of the men will be self-supporting.

WAS VISITOR TO MIAMI, IS NOW FIGHTING

In France, and Writes Interesting Stories to His Relatives Here

An interesting letter has been received from George M. Jones, Jr., of Pittsburg, by his mother, Mrs. Mary V. Jones of 6530 Beacon street, Pittsburg, who is now a guest of the Hotel Rolal Palm in Miami. Mr. Jones is now "somewhere in France," and writes of his experiences on the front in the Verdun sector.

Many winter visitors and residents of Miami during the past several years will remember Mr. Jones, since he has been an annual visitor to this city for some years, and passed much time here aboard his yacht, Viola II. Last year he remained until July, cruising among the lower keys.

The letter, which bears the date January 7th, says in part:

"We run in shifts of twenty-four hours at the Post de Secours, which is very often under fire. We have to run a road which is fired on every day, but I am used to it now and don't mind at at all. The first sensation is to run away, but that wears off and one does not pay any attention to it after a few days.

"The work is very hard, but I don't mind it. There is always something new. We are located in the Verdun sector, but I am not allowed to say where. I have about three hours more before I go out to the post.

"I am gathering some Boche things together for you. I have some things now in my bag. The hats are very hard to get, but I will keep on trying to get one."

Mr. Jones adds the information that the meals are good, and that he expects to be shifted soon to some other part of the line, and three months after the date of his letter he expects to be given eight days' leave of absence and will go to Paris for a rest. He is in the transportation department, delivering ammunition to the firing line.

ON LONG KEY FISHING GOOD, GUESTS HAPPY

Tourist Colony Who Are Achieving Great Things With Rod and Line

Long Key Fishing Camp, Feb. 2.—The guests of Long Key Fishing Camp are indeed much to be envied, the conditions being perfect for a day of strenuous fishing, with any number of reefs and channels to be fished and every variety of fish to be caught, or, for an extended vacation which is always fascinating in this delightful climate.

The weather is ideal. With breezes from the bay and ocean, the soft swish of the cocoanut palms and the absolute restfulness of the island, one finds complete relaxation stealing in upon him 'ere he is aware. When once rested and ready for action, the reefs and gulf stream await the fishing parties. There have been many successful fishermen so far this season. A great many guests, as well as cruising parties, have brought in tarpon, sailfish, large catches of kingfish, barracuda, amberjack and many rare species.

Long Key Fishing Camp is offering more attractions in connection with the camp, especially for those who want a day's rest from the gamey reef fishing. The fine new tennis court is a source of great pleasure, particularly to the younger set and the ladies. Casting for bonefish along the beach is another sport enjoyed by many who do not care for the heavy reef fishing.

Much friendly rivalry is being manifested in the competition for the beautiful sailfish cup which is to be presented by the Long Key Fishing Club at the close of the season. Dr. Frederick Parker of Boston thus far holds the record for the largest sailfish caught, this fish weighing 91 pounds and measuring 8 feet, 4 1-2 inches in length.

Parties from the yachts Freelance and Kanised, together with guests of the camp, enjoyed an impromptu dance one evening last week. A social time was generally had.

Among other yachts which have "put in" at the camp recently are the Tanguingui, the Everglade, Marguerite, and Yuma.

J. J. Starrow and party of New York and Boston are here in their private car Susquehanna to enjoy a fortnight of fishing. Mr. Minch, a member of the party, landed a 48-pound sailfish yesterday.

The departed list shows Mr. F. and Dr. Frederick Parker and Mr. George Loud of Boston, Mr. Bayard Veiller and Mr. Anderson and party of New York, and Mrs. Wm. G. Gomez and sister of Buffalo.

Among the recent arrivals number Mr and Mrs. Walter Coe of Stamford, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bowler, Worcester, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. F. Conill, Mr. and Mrs. Work and Mr. and Mrs. Dodge, all of New York.

Mr. Wm. Scheer and party landed a 57-pound amberjack and a sailfish, one weighing 42 pounds and measuring 6 feet, 11 inches, the other weighing 38 pounds and measuring 6 feet, 3 inches.

Mrs. John Bowler of Worcester, Mass., caught an African pompano weighing 22 pounds.

Phillies' Star Thinks of $15,000 Salary

GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER

Grover Cleveland Alexander, star pitcher of the National League and mainstay of the club in Philadelphia, is a "hold-out." Last year and for the preceding two years he drew a salary of $7,000 a year. Now he asks for $15,000 a year for the next three years. But President William F. Baker of the club has been trying to cut the expenses, and he wants to cut the salaries, which now reach the total of $104,000 a year.

GAVE WRONG ADDRESS

With reference to an account of the loss of some money and jewelry which was reported to the police recently, and which appeared in yesterday's Herald, the proprietors of the Green Tree Inn yesterday stated that no guest of that hotel had reported any such loss. The report made at police headquarters was to the effect that the jewelry was lost in a motion picture show by a lady who gave the hotel as her address.

HAS BROUGHT MANY VISITORS TO MIAMI

F. G. Stanwood, room clerk at the Hotel Seminole, has been the means of causing fifteen people to come to Miami this winter, he asserts, because he has written to the New Jersey Courier.

Mr. Stanwood's letters are published in the Courier semi-occasionally, and are read with interest by the people in that vicinity who are acquainted with him.

All of the fifteen came from Tom's River.

NO JURY YET TO TRY RICE FOR MURDER

Only Ten Secured Out of First Three Hundred Men Examined

100 MORE SUMMONED

And Will Report to the Court Monday Morning When Trial Resumes

A list of another hundred veniremen was exhausted without securing the necessary twelve men to make up the jury in the Rice murder trial yesterday, and an additional one hundred names were drawn last night, which will be returnable on Monday morning at 10 o'clock when the trial will be resumed.

The case continued to attract unusual attention again yesterday, but when it was found that a jury could not be secured, many left the courtroom to await until the work of selecting the necessary twelve to try the case is completed.

When the court adjourned on Wednesday there were eleven tentative jurymen in the box, but two were excused yesterday on one account of physical infirmaties and the other by the defendant, leaving the following ten men in the box: W. M. Barney, J. D. Chapman, A. Gossman, C. W. Beauchamp, E. R. Holbrook, J. M. Bercegeay, R. L. Foster, T. E. Armstrong, Charles E. Loop and Charles Minnick.

Sheriff Moran and his deputies will start out again this morning for the purpose of rounding up the one hundred men who were selected after the adjournment of court yesterday afternoon, and each one of these will be summoned to appear in court Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

MIAMI-KEY WEST RACES INTERESTING TO THE ISLAND CITY

Key West, Feb. 2.—The Citizen says: The speed boats that are entered for the "Miami-Key West" race this year, are all even faster than those that broke the world's record in last year's race.

Five boats are now entered in this race, with a possibility of one or two more coming in. Two of these boats have 400 horse power engines in them, and it is predicted that the best record ever known for long distance racing will be greatly lowered.

Mr. Carl Fisher of Miami has notified the Key West merchants who are giving the "Key West Cup" to the winner of this race, that it will be very gladly accepted. It is Mr. Fisher's belief that the "Miami-Key West" race will soon become as well known as the annual northern automobile races.

SILK MEN TO HEAR AMBASSADOR SATO

New York, Feb. 2.—Aimaro Sato, the Japanese ambassador at Washington, is to be the guest of honor and chief speaker at the forty-fifth annual dinner of the Silk Association of America, which is to be held tomorrow night at the Hotel Astor. The ambassador will tell of the origin and development of the silk industry in Japan.

To be able to buy wild, undeveloped land, at $60.00 to $75.00 per acre, give a contract to a tractor clearing contractor, to clear that land at from $10.00 to $25.00 per acre—to receive the land ready for the planting of your crop, and in ninety days to receive a crop return of potatoes, valued at say $470.00 per acre, to quote

WHAT IS BEING DONE THERE TODAY

looks almost too good to be true AND YET IT IS A FACT. Where can you buy something at $60.00 or $75.00 in any line of mercantile business—and receive such return, in the first season, as in this first crop alone, to say nothing of the OTHER TWO AVAILABLE CROPS in the same year

BANKER SAYS LAWSON SHOULD "BE PUT BEHIND THE BARS"

PLINY FISK

Pliny Fisk, a member of the big banking firm of Harvey Fisk & Sons, told the "leak" committee, "I believe he (Thomas W. Lawson) should be taken at his word and put behind the bars on a basis of perjury." Lawson had told the committee Archibald White, another banker of New York, ahd said Fisk boasted he could control Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, and to prove it had offered to call Washington on the telephone from New York and have the secretary go there.

STOP DANDRUFF! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Girls! Draw a cloth through your hair and double its beauty.

Spend 25 cents! Dandruff vanishes and hair stops coming out.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

HAVE GOOD SEASON IN ST. AUGUSTINE

St. Augustine, Feb. 2.—St. Augustine hotels are enjoying an excellent patronage for this season of the year, but, as yet there has been no rush and all of the local hostelries have accommodations for more guests. There is abundance of accommodations here and the city can take care of many hundred more tourists. This winter compares favoarbly with last in the tourist patronage, but it is too early yet for any of the hoels to fill up. Last winter towards the latter part of the season this city was thronged with tourists, but the hotels had plenty of room for all and there was no overcrowding. Hotel men are hoping for a repetition of last winter's business and will no doubt receive it. At the present time every hotel in the city can take care of a large number of additional guests, and it is well to bear this fact in mind, as it is rumored that tourists in the state at other resorts have been advised that this city is now filled. In the event of the local hotels filling up this season, the state will be advised, as it would be criminal to encourage visitors if we were unable to offer them suitable accommodations.

SCHOOLMARM KILLS LION

Beast Followed Chldren Through California Woods.

Marysville, Cal.—Miss Bessie Alberta Kane, teacher of the Lone Pine school, killed a mountain lion at the doorstep of the lonely country schoolhouse recently.

For several days the lion made desperate by hunger, had been following the school children to and from school. Miss Kane borrowed a shotgun from Henry Keefe, a teamster, and kept it at the schoolhouse for protection. When the lion became more desperate than usual and started to enter the schoolhouse while school was in session Miss Kane went to the door and fired both barrels into the face of the lion, killing it instantly. The animal measured 9 feet from tip to tip.

Today is Thrift Day

Another Fine Opportunity For You to Join Our Christmas Banking Club

THRIFT DAY WAS INAUGURated to inspire the "Savings Habit." So also was our Christmas Banking Club. Therefore this bank is doubly interested and offers both these perfectly good reasons why you should START NOW to lay aside small amounts each week for Christmas spending or other more important needs.

WILL SANTA CLAUS VISIT YOUR home next Christmas? Will your little folks have the things they actually need and the toys they expect to make their little hearts glad? Our Christmas Banking Club makes it an easy matter to obtain that extra Christmas money. By saving a few cents every week from now 'till Christmas you can make the day a "really truly" merry one.

Does THRIFT Pay? It Does!

Attention Fathers!

Are you instilling the "Thrift idea" into the minds of your children? Do you realize what such a thing will mean to their future? Ben Franklin said: "A nickel saved is a nickel made." Let the little folks start life with this fact in mind and help assure their future. Come in Thrift Day (Saturday, Feb. 3rd), start an account in our Club and present your child with the bank book. This will encourage them to continue to save their "Nickels."

Thrift Day is Intended to Inspire Saving

To some it means the first move—
To some a better start—
To some an increased speed.
But to all it means a specified time for definite action.

THRIFT DAY is the day to put wishes and resolutions into practice; to effect economies, savings and short-cuts to better living; to modify unnecessary expense and thus increase contentment.

On THRIFT DAY we expect old friends and many new ones to call, and our welcome is extended to each.

Thrift Day

is a time to unite Thrift thought with Thrift action—to take a step ahead. May we expect you to take this step and with this institution?

Does THRIFT Pay? It Does!

5 Cents a Week

Think of it! Save only 5 cents a week, increase it 5 cents weekly and next Christmas you will have a credit at this bank of $41.00. Wouldn't $41.00 help a whole lot towards making next Christmas Day a merry one? On the other hand, we know a lot of men who pay their insurance premiums every year by saving the amount through a Christmas Banking Club. You'll find use for the money all right, and the best part of it is you can save a pretty good amount and without much inconvenience.

"Because if my husband knew he would jump out of the window, and particularly if it got in the papers he would just simply roll over and die. He's a very strange man. Will you promise?"

"Promise."

"He's always talking about how terribly foolish women are and he doesn't believe in suffrage even. Imagine. And he hates women who wear short hair or smoke, or take long steps when they walk." Mrs. —— had disappeared in another room while she talked. "And if he knew this!" Mrs. —— emerged! She was dressed in trousers.

Wears Them When He Leaves.

"I wear them every morning after he leaves. I know three women in this block who do, too. They put them on for housework. If their husbands knew there would be just simply—oh, it would be awful. You promise now?"

"Promise."

"Lots of women are wearing them—ever since the newspapers published pictures of the women in England who worked in factories in overalls. They're wonderful—the trousers, I mean. Yes, I read this morning that the downtown department stores are considering putting them in stock. John will never allow it. I mean wearing them. He's a very strange man. Remember you promised."

"Yes."

No Picture—Not Yet.

"A picture?" Heavens, no! Imagine John seeing me like this—in the paper. Why, even the women at the club would be outraged. The time hasn't come yet. But it will, I really believe that in five years I'll be wearing these in the street. Not just like this, of course. Some blue and lavender ribbons worked down the side would improve them for street wear.

"No, I won't let you use my name. You can say I live in Wilson avenue. It isn't true, of course, but it will throw John off the track. He's very suspicious. The Wilson avenue husbands? What'll they think? Heavens, I don't know. But I'll bet you there are scores of women working in overalls around the house and wearing trousers. They'll never admit it. Now will you promise——?"

"Promise."

Mrs. —— is 32 years old. She has black hair and weighs, she says, 135 pounds. Husbands, look closely to the wardrobe.

Inquiry among clubwomen of the city revealed a mild indifference on the subject. The department stores, however — two of them — declare through the managers of their woman's wearing apparel department that it would not be long before overalls and trousers for women were placed in stock.—Chicago News.
